About the CONFERENCE

Public Interested is a collaborative conference coordinated by the Phillips Brooks House Center for Public Service & Engaged Scholarship in collaboration with the Center for Public Interest Careers, Harvard Alumni Association, Harvard Varsity Club, Institute of Politics, Office of Career Services, Office for Sustainability, Phillips Brooks House Association, Public Service Network, and Undergraduate Council. This engaging day supports students in exploring postgraduate public service opportunities with the help of alumni serving in such fields. Students have the opportunity to hear from inspiring speakers, interact with incredible alumni, participate in engaging activities, and meet peers who share a passion for public service. Alumni are able to reconnect with one another and build a stronger public service community at Harvard and beyond.

2018 Service to Society Honoree & KEYNOTE SPEAKER

Kristen Clarke AB '97

President & Executive Director of the National Lawyers' Committee for Civil Rights Under the Law

Kristen Clarke leads one of the country's most important national civil rights organizations in the pursuit of equal justice for all. The Lawyers' Committee seeks to promote fair housing and community development, economic justice, voting rights, equal educational opportunity, criminal justice, judicial diversity and more.

Throughout her career, Clarke has focused on work that seeks to strengthen our democracy by combating discrimination faced by African Americans and other marginalized communities. Clarke formerly served as the head of the Civil Rights Bureau for the New York State Attorney General's Office, where she led broad civil rights enforcement on matters including criminal justice issues, education and housing discrimination, fair lending, barriers to reentry, voting rights, immigrants' rights, gender inequality, disability rights, reproductive access and LGBT issues. Under her leadership, the Bureau secured landmark agreements with banks to address unlawful redlining, employers to address barriers to reentry for people with criminal backgrounds, police departments on reforms to policies and practices, major retailers on racial profiling of consumers, and one of the country's largest school districts concerning issues relating to the school-to-prison pipeline.

Clarke spent several years at the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund, Inc. (LDF) where she helped lead the organization's work in the areas of voting rights and election law across the country. Clarke worked on cases defending the constitutionality of the Voting Rights Act and also testified before Congress and state legislatures. Prior to joining LDF, she worked at the U.S. Department of Justice in the Civil Rights Division. While at the Justice Department, she served as a federal prosecutor in the Criminal Section of the Division, handling police misconduct, police brutality, hate crimes, and human trafficking cases. She also worked on voting rights and redistricting cases through the Division's Voting Section.

Clarke speaks and writes regularly on issues concerning race, law and justice. She has appeared on CNN, MSNBC, Democracy Now, Fox News, C-Span's Washington Journal, TV One, and Yahoo News, the world's second largest news site. She has also written numerous articles and books including Barack Obama and African American Empowerment: The Rise of Black America's New Leadership (co-edited with Dr. Manning Marable). In 2015, she served as a lecturer in law at Columbia University School of Law. She received her A.B. from Harvard University and her J.D. from Columbia Law School. She is also an active alumnae of Prep for Prep.

Some of her honors and awards include the 2017 Choate Rosemary Hall Alumni of the Year, the 2017 Thurgood Marshall Award from Quinnipiac University School of Law, the 2016 Alumni of the Year by the National Black Law Students Association, and the New York Law Journal's 2015 Rising Stars, among others.

KEYNOTE SPEAKER

Richard Parker

Lecturer in Public Policy and Senior Fellow of the Shorenstein Center

Richard Parker is Lecturer in Public Policy and Senior Fellow of the Shorenstein Center. An Oxford-trained economist, his career before coming to the Kennedy School in 1993 included journalism (he cofounded the magazine Mother Jones as well as Investigative Reporters & Editors, and chairs the editorial board of The Nation); philanthropy (as executive director of two foundations he donated more than $40 million to social-change groups); social entrepreneurship (he grew environmental group Greenpeace from 2,000 to 600,000 supporters, helped launch People for the American Way, and raised over $250 million for some 60 non-profits), and political consulting (advising, among others, Senators Kennedy, Glenn, Cranston, and McGovern). From 2009 to 2011 he was an economic advisor to Greek Prime Minister George Papandreou.

His books include The Myth of the Middle Class, an early study of widening U.S. income and wealth distribution and Mixed Signals: The Future of Global Television, a critical assessment of the spread of satellite-based news and its political impacts. His intellectual biography, John Kenneth Galbraith: His Life, His Politics, His Economics, which traces the history of 20th century economic theory and policy through the career of Harvard's most famous economist, was described by William F. Buckley as "the best biography of the century", by Sean Wilentz as "the best progressive history I've read in 15 years", and by Keynes' biographer Robert Skidelsky as "an unparalleled achievement."

His academic articles appear in numerous academic anthologies and journals and he writes regularly for magazines and newspapers, including the New York Times, Washington Post, Los Angeles Times, New Republic, Nation, Harper's, Le Monde, Atlantic Monthly, and International Economy, among others.

He received the Kennedy School's Carballo award for outstanding teaching in 2011 and ALANA's Teacher of the Year award in 2007 from the School's students of color.

After the Conference...

NOW WHAT?!

The Phillips Brooks House Center for Public Service and Engaged Scholarship is the hub and department that provides support for all public service efforts at Harvard College. It is home to the Center for Public Interest Careers (CPIC), Mindich Program in Engaged Scholarship (MPES), Phillips Brooks House Association (PBHA), and Public Service Network (PSN), and collaborates closely with the Institute of Politics (IOP) and Office of Career Services (OCS) to provide students with a rich variety of volunteer, internship, coursework, and postgraduate opportunities in public service. The Phillips Brooks House also provides coordination, funding, and planning for public service, supports public service efforts in the freshman yard and houses, and leads collaborative efforts such as the first-year Day of Service, Public Service Recruiting Day, and the Public Interested Conference. For more information, visit: www.publicservice.fas.harvard.edu.

Center for Public Service & Engaged Scholarship

IN COLLABORATION WITH

After the Conference...

NOW WHAT?!

Want to continue making a difference after graduation? Have an entrepreneurial spirit and drive to turn your public service experiences into a year-long project proposal?

Come find out more about a way to make it happen through the Priscilla Chan STRIDE Postgraduate Fellowship, which provides up to $30,000 in grant money to support your living expenses as you work on a community-based public interest project of your own design full-time in the year following graduation!

Information Sessions: Wednesday, Feb 7, 2018, 7:00pm-8:00pm, or Tuesday, Feb 13, 2018, 5:00pm-6:00pm, at Phillips Brooks House.

We will discuss fellowship criteria, individual questions, and coaching at information sessions

All eventual applicants must attend a session to be eligible Letter of Intent due March 7.

Reply to STRIDE@pbha.org to RSVP.

Read more about the Chan STRIDE Post Graduate Fellowship at <http://pbha.org/get-involved/job-opportunities/stride-postgraduate-fellowship/>.

CPIC offers two types of summer fellowships: 1) paid summer fellowships at organizations we partner with (including premier opportunities with leading nonprofits through the Mindich Service Fellowship) and 2) grant funding for fellowships students identify themselves at nonprofit organizations. Both types of summer experiences are generally 10 weeks long (40 hours per week), starting in June. Most summer stipends for U.S. based programs range from $3,000 to $5,000 for the summer.

Summer Fellowship postings will appear on Crimson Careers with the “CPIC” tag in the job heading. If you’d like for our staff to make recommendations to you about summer opportunities, please take 5 minutes to complete our student interest form.

Through the CPIC Post-Graduate Fellowship Program, we connect current Harvard College seniors and recent graduates with paid full-time positions in public interest organizations across the United States. Our Post-Graduate Fellows are guaranteed a salary of at least $30,000 per year + benefits with a commitment of one to two years to a public interest organization.

For more information, visit www.publicservice.fas.harvard.edu/cpic.

The Office of Career Services welcomes all students and offers a wide range of services and resources tailored specifically to internships, entry-level jobs, and summer opportunities for Harvard College students and recent alumni. Alumni within five years of graduation have full access to all services, with the exception of some online subscription resources.

Drop-in Advising

OCS offers Harvard College undergraduates ten-minute “ask me anything” drop-in sessions from 1:00-4:00pm, Monday-Friday. This is the best way to get started with OCS or to have your resume or cover letter reviewed.

Scheduled Appointments

Appointments are for students seeking longer conversations about career decision making, summer planning, making connections, searching or interviewing for a job, considering graduate school, and similar career advice. Note that Drop-Ins are the best and most efficient way to get a resume or cover letter reviewed. All seniors as well as undergrads who have attended an OCS orientation or drop-in session will be able to schedule an appointment with an adviser through Crimson Careers.

Summer Planning and Funding The summer funding team offers drop-in advising and information sessions at key points throughout the year for Harvard College students seeking financial assistance for international (all fields) and domestic (public service only) summer experiences. Check out the OCS Navigating Your Summer booklet to get insider information on all Harvard summer opportunities and funding.

Premedical and Health Careers The premedical and health careers advising team offers drop-in advising, appointments, and information sessions at key points throughout the year for Harvard College students and alumni pursuing health-related fields.

Graduate & Professional School Advising

When applying to graduate programs, Harvard College students often receive help from their House Tutors and academic departments. OCS supplements this support with additional resources and guidance for students planning for graduate programs.

Career Fairs, Employers, and Workshops

OCS conducts over 300 programs and hosts over 20 career fairs annually. These events are designed to be an easy way for you to meet alumni and employers and learn about different opportunities. Everyone from freshmen to seniors attend these events to test their interests by talking to people about what they do, how they got their start, and what advice they may have for you if you are interested in pursuing similar work.

Our friendly advisers can help you plan for summer and your four years at Harvard and beyond. Come by 54 Dunster Street and let us get to know you! You can also visit our website www.ocs.fas.harvard.edu.

HARVARD
Office for Sustainability

Learn more about how Harvard is using its campus to test and prove sustainability solutions that lead to a healthier, low-carbon future! Visit @GreenHarvard or green.harvard.edu for the latest news and resources, including green tips to use on campus or at home. Sign up to receive our monthly email newsletter full of sustainability-related research highlights, stories, and events at green.harvard.edu/subscribe

Our living lab initiative (green.harvard.edu/livinglab) provides grant funding to faculty and students that use the campus as part of their energy, sustainability, or climate research. Visit green.harvard.edu for more information!

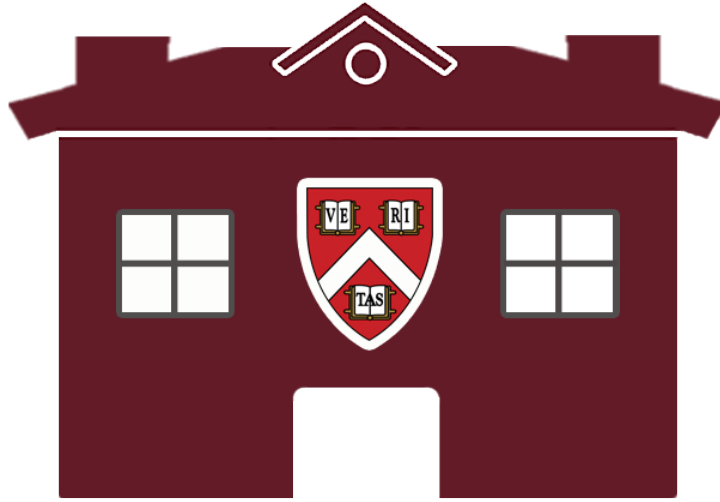

The 2018 Engaged Scholarship & Social Justice Undergraduate Research Conference is the only conference that focuses on socially engaged research conducted by undergraduates. If you are an undergraduate doing independent research under the supervision of faculty, please consider submitting a proposal. For complete information on proposal guidelines please follow the links on the post card or go to the website.

More information can be found at www.essjconference.fas.harvard.edu

Whether you are a senior thinking about post-graduate plans, or a freshman wondering how coursework can impact your career path, the staff at the IOP Office of Internships and Career Services is available to meet with students to help guide and advise them during a job search.

You can make an appointment here: <http://iop.harvard.edu/get-involved/internships-careers/internships-career-services-office-hours>

PRESS

Phillips Brooks House, Harvard University

The Arthur Liman Press at Phillips Brooks House is an endowed fund in honor of Arthur C. Liman '54. Publications from the Arthur Liman Press promote lives of service and honor the life and commitment of this influential attorney. Although Mr. Liman represented an impressive array of clients including Time Warner and Michael Milken, he spent much of his career defending the rights of the poor. He served as advisor to four governors, two mayors, and counselor to Secretaries of State and U.S. senators. He was chief counsel of the Iran-Contra hearings. Liman also led an investigation of the Attica prison uprising, an investigation that many say changed the way the criminal justice system is viewed in America. He was also on the Board of Overseers at Harvard University from 1988-1994.
